

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. A book | Ryan, C. (1991) Recreational Tourism: A Social Science Perspective . London: Routledge. |
| 2. An edited book | Ritchie, J.R.B. and Goeldner, C.R. (eds) (1994) Travel, Tourism, and Hospitality Research: A Handbook for Managers and Researchers . 2nd edn, New York: John Wiley and Sons. |
| 3. A chapter from an edited book | Gunn, C.A. (1994) A perspective on the purpose and nature of tourism research methods. In J.R.B. Ritchie and C.R. Goeldner (eds) Travel, Tourism, and Hospitality Research: A Handbook for Managers and Researchers . 2nd edn, New York: John Wiley and Sons, 3–12. |
| 4. A published conference report
(NB in the example, the printed proceedings were published two years after the conference was held) | Ruskin, H. and Sivan, A. (eds) (1995) Leisure Education: Towards the 21st Century, Proceedings of the International Seminar of the World Leisure and Recreation Commission on Education, Jerusalem, August, 1993 . Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press. |
| 5. A published conference paper | Veal, A.J. (1995) Leisure studies: frameworks for analysis. In H. Ruskin and A. Sivan (eds) Leisure Education: Towards the 21st Century, Proceedings of the International Seminar of the World Leisure and Recreation Commission on Education, Jerusalem, August, 1993 . Provo, Utah: Brigham Young University Press, 124–36. |
| 6. A government agency report, authored and published by the same agency | Sport England (1999) Best Value Through Sport: Case Studies . London: Sport England. |
| 7. A journal article | Ravenscroft, N. (1993) Public leisure provision and the good citizen. Leisure Studies , 12 (1), 33–44. |
| 8. A newspaper article with named author | Hornery, A. (1996) Market-researchers facing major hurdles. Sydney Morning Herald , 11 April, p. 26. |
| 9. A newspaper item without a named author | Sydney Morning Herald (1996) Our green future, 7 June, p. 12. |
| 10. An Internet source | Veal, A.J. (2003) Education, Training and Professional Development in Leisure: A Bibliography . On-line Bibliography 10, Sydney: School of Leisure and Tourism Studies, University of Technology, Sydney, available at: www.business.uts.edu.au/1st/research/bibs.html (accessed Jan 2005). |

Figure 5.8 Examples of references

the paper or report, references are listed in alphabetical order. Thus, a sentence in a report might look something like this:

Research on women and leisure in the 1970s and 1980s included work in Britain by Deem (1986), in Canada by Bella (1989), in the United States by Bialeschki and Henderson (1986) and in Australia by Anderson (1975).